To read a book, grasp nature's beauty, contemplate a picture - neither activity can be taken for granted. To see well is of vital importance.

Be that over greater distances, all the way to the start of other galaxies, or is smaller and smaller dimension all the way to the individual building blocks. Or is simply correct our everyday sight as we grow older. Seeing well is not the only factor. We also expect free design. Because our desire to see is not confined to just describing and identifying, but it also gives us enjoyment and pleasure when observing interesting forms, structures and colours. Our enhanced vision thus developed hand in hand with the love of designing and producing objects that are of no practical value.
